

Help children write a better future with In2Books!

Like to read? Do you want to make a difference in the life of a student?

Consider volunteering for In2Books, an on-line learning program which is proven to help improve children's reading, writing and critical thinking skills. For the past 13 years, In2Books has served over 20,000 children exchanging more than 200,000 letters with students in under-resourced schools across the US.

How In2Books Works:

- As a pen pal, you are matched with 3rd – 5th grade student in an under-resourced school.
- You and your student write introductory “Getting to Know You” letters to each other via e-mail.
- Your student selects five books from lists compiled by In2Books’ children’s literature experts.
- You and your student exchange on-line letters about important topics in the books.

Volunteer just a few hours a month right from your computer through the In2Books all-digital platform and make a difference in the life of a child. In2Books On-Line Writing Center makes it easy for adults to be good mentors, for students to become better writers and for teachers to supervise and approve the process.

Join the growing community of volunteers in making a significant difference in a child’s life!

To join, go to www.in2books.com/penpal. You’ll create a username and password and pass a standard background check, which is done to ensure the safety of the students.
