

RETIREMENT TIMELINE

Find useful information and links about retiree discounts, Intel benefits information as well as contact numbers for Intel and benefits service providers under the Retirement Timeline.

1. To help you get started, go to our website home page. There you will find the following:

A blue bar with labels including the headings: Home, Announcements, Benefits, Healthcare, Volunteer, Life After Intel, etc. where specific content resides.

2. Under the Benefits section you'll find the Retirement Timeline.

- Note the organization of the Retirement Timeline.
- Early stage retirement content (Pre-Retirement, Early Retirement decisions);
- Retirement content (Core Benefits for retirees and Additional Benefits);
- Medicare Eligible content (Core Benefits for retirees and Additional Benefits).

3. Determine which of the 3 columns applies to you and read about the Core Benefits and Additional Benefits that you have as a retiree by clicking on the different topics under each heading. Note that we have up-to-date FAQs, links to Intel processes (like the My Health Benefits Website), phone numbers to call for Intel and benefits service providers here.

4. For Useful Contacts, we have organized them into two webpages linked from the Retirement Timeline: Pre-Retirement/Key Contacts (Intel call center, Fidelity, Intel Health Benefits Center, and a few more) Retirement/Intel Benefits Directory (comprehensive list of phone and website contact information).

5. Under the Additional Benefits heading, find information about discounts available to retirees. Click on Discounts to learn more about how to get a Passport card, and how to access the passport website as a retiree.

Summary:

We provide links to the Intel Corporate retiree website from the Intel Retiree Organization website. Our intent is to provide supplemental information on the Intel Retiree Organization website.

Recently (late 2013) the Intel website for retirees was refreshed. We are working with Intel to ensure that between the two websites we do not have discrepancies.

The FAQs (supplemental information on the Intel Retiree Organization website) about Intel benefits are written by Intel and updated by Intel.

If you find discrepancies with the information on the two websites or inaccurate information on our website, please help us improve the accuracy by sending us an email.
